

DIGITAL MEDIA PRODUCTION COLLEGE CREDIT CERTIFICATE

The Digital Media Production college credit certificate will prepare students for the growing media and digital production industry. Program curriculum will focus on building skills and a foundation in video production, solving industry-related problems, writing and speaking the language of the industry effectively, demonstrating professional behavior, using computer hardware and software, and using video equipment to create digital broadcasts and related projects. Upon completion, students will be prepared to work in the field as videographers, audio/visual technicians, writers, and editors.

This college credit certificate is upward compatible with the Associate in Science Digital Media: Creative Video Production degree (<https://lssc-public.courseleaf.com/academic-programs/career-technical-education-programs/digital-media-creative-video-production-as/>).
