

ENC-ENGLISH COMPOSITION

ENC 0022 Foundations of Communications (3 Credits)

The course will focus on reading comprehension, vocabulary skills, grammar, and essay writing. In addition, this course will address the connection between reading and writing through reading response activities.

ENC 1101 College Composition I (3 Credits)

This course introduces students to rhetorical concepts and audience-centered approaches to writing including composing processes, language conventions and style, and critical analysis and engagement with written texts and other forms of communication. Student Learning Outcomes:
 -Students will apply rhetorical knowledge to communicate for a range of audiences and purposes. -Students will employ critical thinking to analyze forms of communication. -Students will engage in writing processes that involve drafting, revising, and reflecting.

Prerequisite: Successful completion of all developmental writing and reading courses if indicated through placement testing and/or advising.

Area I: Communications, General Education, Gordon Rule Writing

ENC 1102 Composition: Literature (3 Credits)

A composition course that focuses on writing based upon a study and analysis of the major literary genres. Emphasis on writing a major research paper.

Prerequisite: C or higher in ENC 1101

Area I: Communications, General Education, Gordon Rule Writing

ENC 2210 Technical & Professional Writing (3 Credits)

The student is trained in the collection, organization, analysis, evaluation, and professional presentation of business, industrial, or scientific data. The student practices a variety of letter, memo, resume, and report formats including the use of charts and drawings. The course includes practice in oral reports. A term research project is required.

Prerequisite: C or higher in ENC 1101 or documented consent of the instructor

Area I: Communications, General Education, Gordon Rule Writing