

PHI-PHILOSOPHY

PHI 2010 Introduction to Philosophy (3 Credits)

In this course, students will be introduced to the nature of philosophy, philosophical thinking, major intellectual movements in the history of philosophy, including topics from the Western philosophical tradition, and various problems in philosophy. Students will strengthen their intellectual skills, become more effective learners, and develop broad foundational knowledge. Student Learning Outcomes: -Students will develop critical thinking skills. -Students will demonstrate an understanding of classical Western philosophical views. -Students will analyze, explain, and evaluate foundational concepts of epistemology, metaphysics, and ethics.

Prerequisite: C or higher in ENC 1101 or documented consent of instructor

General Education, Gordon Rule Writing, Area II: Humanities

PHI 2600 Introduction to Ethics (3 Credits)

An Introduction to the key concepts and principles of ethics as a basis for the study of values, ethical decisions, right actions and justice. It covers the philosophical roots, as well as modern applications of ethics based upon the ideas and influence of a wide range of philosophers. Emphasis is placed on the philosophical thought of the western canon.

Prerequisite: C or higher in ENC 1101

General Education, Gordon Rule Writing, Area II: Humanities

PHI 2930 Special Topics in Philosophy (3 Credits)

This course focuses on a specific topic in the history of philosophy. This includes exploring the historical foundations of a special topic in philosophy, discussing the progression of ideas from its historical roots to contemporary debates, and undertaking research into one's own critical stance on the issue.

Prerequisite: C or higher in ENC 1101 or documented consent of instructor

Gordon Rule Writing